ABOUT THE SPEAKERS

Prabhat Agarwal is Acting Head of Unit for E-Commerce & Online Platforms at the European Commission’s DG CNECT. He comes from a background of academic and industrial research, covering a broad range of fundamental science and commercial high-tech projects. He joined the European Commission in 2007 and has since then covered a variety of digital innovation and regulatory areas. He holds a Ph.D. in Condensed Matter Physics from the University of Cambridge.

Nicholas Blades is Director of Regulation, Competition & Data Policy, responsible for a multi-disciplinary regulatory team based in Madrid, Brussels and London. His regulatory responsibilities include sector regulatory frameworks, spectrum policy and specialist economic analysis, while his competition and data policy functions span mergers and competition law policies, copyright, data privacy and audio-visual media services. He joined O2 UK in 2004 and has undertaken a variety of regulatory and management roles within the business, always with a strong strategic focus.

Axel Desmedt is a member of the BIPT Council since November 2009. He is currently in charge of the Postal, Legal and Consumer departments. He holds a Master’s degree in Law from the Free University of Brussels (1997) as well as an LLM degree from the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor, USA). In 1997, he joined the Brussels Bar as a lawyer, working respectively for the law firms Stibbe and WilmerHale. In 2006 he joined the France Telecom/Orange Group and was appointed Deputy Director of the Group’s Permanent Representation to the EU at in 2008. He is a founding member and member of the editorial committee of the Revue du Droit des Industries de Réseaux – Law Journal of Network Industries published by Kluwer.

Alexandre de Streele is a Joint Academic Director of CERRE and Professor of European Law at the universities of Namur and Louvain. He is also the Director of the Research Centre for Information, Law and Society (CRIDS). Professor de Streele regularly advises international organisations and national regulatory authorities on regulatory and competition issues in network industries. He holds a Ph.D. in Law from the European University Institute.
Lisa Felton is Group Head of Services Regulation at Vodafone. With more than 17 years’ experience in the telecoms sector, she is currently responsible for consumer policy, content, payments, Internet safety and sector-specific regulation. She influences services regulations under the Digital Single Market proposals, including e-commerce, digital content, platforms and telecoms regulation. Ms. Felton holds a Law degree from the University of Oxford.

Amelia Fletcher is Professor of Competition Policy at the Centre for Competition Policy at the University of East Anglia. She was appointed Non-Executive Director of the Competition and Markets Authority Board in October 2016. She is also a Non-Executive Director of the Financial Conduct Authority and Payment Systems Regulator, a member of the Enforcement Decision Panels at Ofgem and the Civil Aviation Authority and a member of the Royal Economic Society Council and the expert advisory board to the National Infrastructure Commission. Professor Fletcher holds a DPhil and MPhil in economics from Nuffield College, Oxford.

Joos Francke manages the ‘Telecom & Digitalisation’ team at the Netherlands Authority for Consumers & Markets (ACM). His work on telecoms regulation includes the analysis of telecom markets, regulating access to networks as well as safeguarding net neutrality. He was also responsible for the ACM market study into app stores and is involved in the program to oversee potential competition problems in the digital economy. Mr Francke also worked for OPTA, one of the predecessors of the ACM. Previously, he also worked for KPMG as an economic advisor in regulated sectors. He is a graduate of the University of Amsterdam, where he studied econometrics and economics.

Johan Keetelaar is Director of Public Policy, Connectivity & Access EMEA at Facebook. In this role, he oversees Facebook’s policy activities in Europe, Middle-East and Africa, primarily in the field of connectivity. Prior to this, Mr Keetelaar was Director of Regulation and Competition at the Netherlands Authority for Consumers & Markets (ACM). He also worked at the Netherlands Independent Post and Telecommunications Authority (OPTA) as the Director of Markets. Prior to that, he worked in the telecommunications and aviation industry for almost ten years. He holds a Master’s degree in Econometrics from the University of Amsterdam.
Stephane Lhermitte is Director Economy, Markets & Digital at Arcep. In 2008, Stéphane joined the National Treasury where he was in charge of the Office of Financial Research, before being appointed Head of the Economic Department of the French Embassy in Portugal. He later became Head of the Fixed Market Regulation Unit, and subsequently Head of the Mobile Market Unit. Stephane is a graduate of the Ecole Polytechnique, Ensae ParisTech and Pompeu Fabra University in Barcelona.

Bruno Liebhaberg leads the think tank, CERRE. He is also the Chair of the EU Observatory on the Online Platform Economy. He was a professor at the Université Libre de Bruxelles’ Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (1979-2018). Earlier in his career, Mr Liebhaberg advised former European Commission President Jacques Delors on industry and R&D matters. He holds a Master’s degree in Management Sciences from SBS-EM ULB and a PhD from the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Olivia Regnier is Director of EU Regulatory Affairs at Spotify in Brussels since May 2017. She is in charge of Spotify’s policy in Europe, covering issues including e-Commerce, platforms regulation, copyright, data protection and taxation. She is also Chair of Digital Music Europe, an association and representing European digital music services. Previously, she was Director of the European Office of IFPI, representing the recording industry worldwide, and led the industry’s policy work in the EU on copyright reform, e-Commerce, enforcement and licensing.

Agustin Reyna is Head of Legal and Economic Affairs at The European Consumer Organisation, BEUC. Within BEUC, he supervises four policy teams (Financial Services, Digital, Consumer Rights and Consumer Redress and Enforcement) and coordinates the organisation’s work on competition law enforcement and policy. He is responsible for providing the consumer viewpoint to the European Commission’s competition directorate in high-profile cases affecting consumer markers. In 2017, Agustin was elected co-EU chair of the Intellectual Property Committee of the Trans-Atlantic Consumer Dialogue, a network of over 75 organisations representing consumers’ interest in the US and the EU.
Marieke Scholz is Deputy Head of Unit ‘Antitrust Case Support & Policy’ at the European Commission's Directorate General for Competition. Having worked in private practice in a Brussels law firm, she joined the European Commission in 2007 where she has primarily working on antitrust enforcement and policy with a particular focus on the IT and telecommunications sector.

Petra Wikström is Director of Public Policy at the Nordic media- and digital consumer brands group Schibsted. Ms Wikström has extensive experience in working with EU policy for several Nordic media companies, both as a self-employed consultant as well as head of public affairs for the largest commercial broadcasters in Sweden and Finland. She has worked at various media associations both in London and Brussels and has been member of the board of the Association of Commercial Television in Europe (ACT).